FurnitureFindex.com is the vision of interior designer Denise H. Cooperman. Denise has been in the home furnishings industry, both residential and commercial for more than 25 years. She has owned a store front design studio, worked as an interior design director for a chain of four stores, coordinated a six year commercial expansion project and as a buyer/senior designer for a furniture store in the Philadelphia area. Her clients have included several local celebrities including members of the Philadelphia Eagles and Flyers.

Denise was born in Beverly Hills, CA. Creativity runs in her family; Denise's father is a manufacturer of fabric and trim. During the summer while in high school, Denise did clerical work in her father's studio on Robertson Boulevard, which at the time was known as "Decorator's Row". She designed and made handbags out of his discontinued fabric samples and sold them to local shoe stores.

Denise attended college at the University of Colorado as an art major. After college she tried many things before finding her way into the home furnishings industry. She worked as a jewelry designer, clothing designer, was commissioned for original paintings and even had her own nail salon in La Jolla, CA. Denise now resides in New Jersey where she is happily married and has two sons.

It was Denise's experience with her client's frustration that inspired FurnitureFindex.com. FurnitureFindex.com began its life as UsedFurnitureFindex.com but quickly expanded beyond its original charter to include brand new items and showroom samples. According to Denise, "My clients have always struggled with finding that perfect piece of furniture, with endless time spent searching through catalogues. Over and over again my clients would also ask me what to do with their old furniture while planning to purchase new. Most didn't want to be bothered with the hassle of placing an ad in the newspaper, were unfamiliar or uncomfortable with using online auction sites or used furniture store outlets. They all thought I would have the answer and I didn't, until now." With FurnitureFindex.com, Denise has successfully combined her love of finding furniture with the need to create a solution to help her clients dispose of their once loved furniture.
